

Sun Peaks Forecast (Inside ski area boundary)

Issued at 7 am

Morning

Afternoon

Evening

Another warm front from the Pacific will move along the US border on Friday afternoon and give scattered flurries beginning in the morning. On Saturday a flow from the southwest will allow a few sunny breaks in the cloud cover and isolated flurries. Wind will be gusty at the higher elevations on Friday and lighter on Saturday.

Current weather and snow conditions

2cm new snow over night with Light to moderate southwest winds. Watch for changing conditions over the course of the day

Lots of excellent groomed runs

Spring Conditions

No bluebird spring skiing for you

Snow conditions

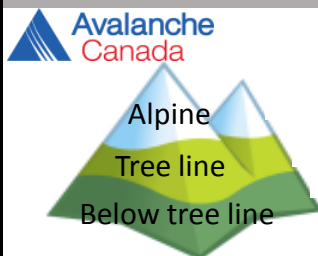

Tree line	HS	252	Snow ° C	-8.4	24 HR	2
Below tree	HS	206	Snow ° C	-5.7	24 HR	2

For more information please contact one of the snow safety team

Avalanche Canada Forecast

North Columbias

Issued yesterday at 4 pm

Today	Tomorrow
2 - Moderate	3 - Considerable
2 - Moderate	2 - Moderate
2 - Moderate	1 - Low

More information at www.avalanche.ca or Avalanche Canada mobile app

CAUTION

The avalanche hazard information is a generalized forecast from Avalanche Canada for this region provided for your information only. Local conditions can and do vary widely and can be dangerous at any time even if the forecast does not report this. Know your route, be properly equipped, notify someone of your travel plans, never ski alone. Sun Peaks Resort LLP does not endorse or encourage going beyond the ski area boundary at any time. Persons going beyond the ski area boundary do so at their own risk and assume all liability and responsibility for their own safety.